Products Not Requiring Material Safety Data Sheet

The Occupational Safety and Health Administration's (OSHA) Hazard Communication Standard (29CFR1910.1200) requires manufacturers to prepare material safety data sheets for chemical products which are considered "hazardous" according to the regulation. For a chemical or formulation to be hazardous, it must present either a physical hazard or health hazard. The list below identifies those Hospira products that do not meet OSHA's "hazardous" chemical classification. Material safety data sheets have not been prepared for the products listed below.
